Makes Concessions to Court Foes in Not Sending Envoy to Geneva

U. S. WON'T EXPLAIN

England Wants America to "Interpret" Parts of Court Reservations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1926, by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—There's far more than appears on the surface in the announcement from the White House that President Coolidge sees no reason for sending a special envoy to Geneva to interpret the reservations attached by the United States senate to the protocol proposing American adherence to the World Court.

Mr. Coolidge has noted the very faces made by the "irreconcilables" group about the possibility of giving formal recognition to the League of Nations as the parent of the World Court and has decided to make concessions to the aforesaid "irreconcilables."

When the reservations were attached, it was specifically indicated that acceptance must be arranged by the exchange of diplomatic notes with the various nations now ratifying the protocol. Secretary Baker is getting the acceptances by addressing 48 nations.

VEETES BRITISH MOVE

The move of Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, in asking that an American envoy come to the September meeting of the League of Nations to "explain" the reservations was regarded here as meaning that the United States would confer formally with the League of Nations and in a sense petition the league for permission to enter the court. This procedure now has been vetoed by the president, who realizes that most of the argument made about the separation of the World Court from the league would be revived if the United States sent an envoy to discuss the matter at Geneva.

Mr. Coolidge is careful not to say the United States is retreating from her desire to enter the World Court. Nor is he intimating as yet that if the reservations are not accepted by the other nations, the United States will stay out of the court. But for all practical purposes that is the exact situation. The United States senate after a protracted debate has specified certain reservations. Some of these will be awkward for other nations to accept, but they contain the price of American adherence.

In other words, if the other powers want the United States in the court, the conditions under which America will enter are set forth in the reservations. What the British foreign minister intended by his suggestion that an American envoy interpret the reservations is not yet known even to President Coolidge who is willing to listen to any argument that may be made for the procedure. No American envoy can make an official interpretation. He might answer questions unofficially and informally but it is not supposed this would satisfy the other governments.

EXPECT BRITISH NOTE

Meanwhile it is confidently expected that between now and September the British government, taking the initiative, will address a diplomatic note to the United States asking that certain points be cleared up. The department of state is in a position to answer questions but not to interpret reservations. Some of the questions that undoubtedly will be asked relate to those reservations which tie the hands of the American government but which do not at the same time restrict the freedom of action of other governments. The American government may not be explicit or satisfactory, in which event the British and other governments will do their own interpreting of the American reservations and state what their understanding is to be. Should these understandings or set of reservations conflict with the American government's view it may mean holding up American entry but the chances are the reservations attached by other powers will be confined to a simple statement that nothing in the American reservations is to be considered as infringing on the freedom of action of other powers in their dealings either with the World Court or the League of Nations. But at best the process will be long drawn out and it will be a long time before the United States officially takes its place in the World Court.

DENY RHINELANDER NEW TRIAL AGAINST HIS NEGRO SPOUSE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Morschauer Tuesday denied Leonard Kip Rhinelander a new trial in his annulment action against his negro wife, Alice Jones Rhinelander, which was tried before Justice Morschauer in West Chester supreme court at White Plains last November. It is understood Rhinelander will appeal to the appellate division in Brooklyn from Justice Morschauer's ruling.

In the two words, "motions denied," Justice Morschauer refused to grant the motions of Isaac N. Mills Rhinelander's counsel to set aside the verdict of the jury, which was that Rhinelander, member of an old wealthy New York family should not receive an annulment from his wife, and to grant a new trial. At the same time Justice Morschauer allowed Lee Parsons Davis, Mrs. Rhinelander's attorney, an additional settlement of $12,000 for his services in the trial and subsequent proceedings to date.

SENATE WILL PRESENT DRY VIEWS FIRST

House Unofficial Committee for Volstead Act Modification Defers Hearing

Washington, D. C.—The house unofficial committee for modification of the Volstead act will give the senate majority committee first whack at testimony on prohibition and will defer its own hearing set for next Wednesday.

The committee will cooperate fully with the senate official body and in addition has appointed a spokesman to present its views and those of modification senators to the committee which will begin its sessions on April 5.

The spokesman is William H. Stetson, executive head of the Association against the Prohibition act and chairman of the legislative committee. He will be assisted by Julian Goldman of Boston, who will discuss legal aspects of prohibition before the committee.

This action was decided upon at a conference Wednesday night of 54 representatives and eight senators in favor of modification who met under the chairmanship of Representative Hull, Republican, Maryland. The representatives, Mr. Hull said, comprised all but five members of the unofficial modification committee of the house of which he is the head.

When the senate committee concludes its hearing on April 17, the house modifications may decide to hold their hearings. Mr. Hull said, is the belief that "the time has come to unite on one specific method for modification of the prohibition law." In the meantime there is no indication that prohibition discussion in and out of congress is to lag in anticipation of an exhaustive exposition of the senate hearings.

The subject was linked with the next presidential election in a speech in the senate Wednesday by Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, one of the wets. He suggested that the Democratic ticket in 1928 be led by some one "like Al Smith of New York or Governor Ritchie of Maryland, pledged to see that conditions of law observance, decency, and respectability are restored in the United States."

STOOL PIGEON SHOT TO DEATH

Two Men Enter Victim's Home and Fire Dozen Bullets into His Body

Chicago—(AP)—Robert LaFollette, 24, suspected of revealing to police the hiding place of William J. White and Thomas Schupe, held as alleged members of a robber band, was shot to death while he lay asleep early Thursday.

The murder was committed by two men who gained admittance to the basement apartment by posing as policemen when LaFollette's father answered their knock on the door. A dozen bullets were fired into LaFollette's body and the slayers escaped before the father could interfere.

Police are convinced the slaying removed an important witness against White and Schupe. White has been identified as the slayer of a suburban motorcycle policeman and as a member of bands which staged robberies netting more than $171,000. Schupe, said to be White's pal, has a long criminal record, police say. Both are believed to have participated in the recent $80,000 payroll holdup at a plant of the International Harvester Co.

Investigation revealed that a triangular love affair may have culminated in the murder of LaFollette. It was learned from the older LaFollette that several weeks ago Schupe induced young LaFollette's wife to elope with him. The father asserted, however, that he was not sure the son had not caused the arrest of White and Schupe, taken into custody Tuesday. Search has been started for the wife.

Laurel Phila Carroll, of the detective bureau, said Corrine LaFollette was arrested several years ago in Racine, Wis., with Jimmy LaPorte, who escaped from the county jail when Tommy O'Connor made his memorable break.

NO WORD ON REMOVAL OF SLAIN SON'S BODY

Mr. and Mrs. James McElhone, 1622 W. Erie-st., parents of the late Rex McElhone who was ambushed and killed by Mexican bandits Sunday, March 14, while working on a construction project in the town of Ixtlan 1,000 miles south of the international boundary have received no word as yet as to whether the body of their son will be sent here for burial. Mr. and Mrs. McElhone have requested that the American consul at Mazatlan, a city close to the scene of the tragedy and the officials of the I. B. Construction Co., by whom McElhone was employed in Mexico to cooperate in sending the remains here for burial. The body is now interred in Mexico.

PAUTZ BANKRUPTCY TO BE CLOSED AT HEARING

Two Appleton bankruptcy hearings will be held Friday afternoon at the office of C. B. Behrke, referee in bankruptcy, in the Insurance block. The first will be the final meeting in the Otto Pautz bankruptcy in which the final account of the trustee, C. D. Brown of Oshkosh, will be reviewed and dividends will be paid to creditors. Mr. Pautz formerly operated a grocery store at 225 N. Appleton-st. and filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy last fall.

The other case will be the initial hearing of creditors of A. L. Leeman, who until recently operated a jewelry store on N. Oneida-st. Mr. Leeman filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy about two weeks ago. He listed his liabilities at $8,083.65 and assets at $2,350.

INTERIOR FINISHERS HEAR TWO SPEAKERS

Archibald McComb, former Brown-co assemblyman, addressed the meeting of the Northeastern Wisconsin Interior Finishers association in Green Bay Wednesday night on The Reason for Legislation, and W. B. Brichman of Green Bay talked on Business Conditions for the Future. Twenty-two men from the section were represented at the meeting. Appleton men in attendance were Leith G. Graef and Robert Schmidt.

Musical programs were given before and after the speeches. The next meeting of the organization will be held at the Conway hotel in Appleton on April 1.

TAX COLLECTIONS EXCEED ESTIMATE

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Income tax collections for the first quarter under the new revenue law are now expected to reach $435,000,000 or within $6,000,000 of the collections a year ago under the higher rates.

The total predicted Thursday at the treasury exceeds by $25,000,000 the first estimate of Secretary Mellon on the collections for this quarter under the reduced tax rates. The increased returns, despite the lower rate, was attributed by Secretary Mellon Thursday to the larger profits last year and to the stimulation in business which he believed resulted from the anticipation of tax reduction.

ZIMMERMAN IS ASPIRANT FOR BLAINE'S JOB

Announces Candidacy for Nomination as "Progressive Republican"

Madison—(AP)—Fred Zimmerman, secretary of state Thursday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. Mr. Zimmerman stated he will seek office as a "progressive Republican."

Announcement issued by Mr. Zimmerman read:

"I shall be a candidate for governor as a progressive Republican at the September primaries."

"In 1908 I was elected to the assembly as a progressive Republican; in 1916, 1920 and 1924 I was a La Follette delegate to the national presidential conventions. I was elected secretary of state in 1922 and re-elected in 1924. In speaking of my candidacy in 1922 Senator La Follette said:

"I have known Fred Zimmerman for 20 years and he has always been right." "In recent public addresses I have expressed my views on some of the important public questions of the day, such as taxation, education, democracy, conservation and highways, but in the near future I shall issue the platform in which my attitude toward these and other subjects will be specifically set forth."

Mr. Zimmerman is the first of the La Follette, progressive group to announce his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Two other candidates have announced that they will seek the Republican nomination for governor: Perry, Wauwatosa; and State Senator William A. Tins, Fond du Lac.

Mr. Zimmerman represents the anti-Bruce group among the progressives, having openly criticized Governor Bruce. The name of Attorney General Herman L. Ekers has been mentioned repeatedly as a probable candidate for governor in the coming campaign with Governor Blaine seeking the nomination for United States Senator.

MELLON DEFENDS WAR DEBT POLICY

Says Financial Policies of U. S. Are Backed by Sense, Not Sentiment

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—The American government's war debt policy was defended here Wednesday night by Secretary Mellon shortly after it had been attacked in the British house of commons by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and Philip Snowden, Laborite and former chancellor.

Secretary Mellon, who spoke before the Union League club, on the eve of consideration by the senate in Washington of the Italian debt settlement, said "our financial policies toward Europe are backed not by sentiment but by sense." Mr. Churchill and Mr. Snowden agreed that responsibility for the war debt difficulties rests on the United States for refusing to cancel the obligations.

Mr. Mellon, who prepared his address before the related remarks were made in the house of commons, described the debt settlement terms as the most favorable which could be obtained, short of force, adding that the administration believed in help and not charity toward Europe. Mr. Snowden, however, viewed the war loans to the allies through Great Britain as America's "gift as a sort of compensation for her late arrival on the battlefields of Europe."

COOKS ARE SCARCE AS TOURIST SEASON NEARS

CHARGE MADISON POLICE PROTECTED BOOTLEGGERS

Madison—(AP)—Madison police were charged Thursday by Attorney William Rubin, Milwaukee, with protecting alleged bootleg operations of Rudolph Jessner, now on trial for the slaying of Patrolman Palmer Thompson, Jan. 4.

Rubin made the charge in his opening statement Thursday at the trial of the former restaurant proprietor, asserting that the slain officer was one of the policemen assigned to the district under whose protection Jessner sold liquor for a year during 1923 and 1924. The attorney promised to show the jury of 11 men and one woman, completed Wednesday that Patrolmen Earl Hessling, Taylor, Gray and Liman Mason and others stood by while liquor was being delivered to Jessner's restaurant.

The protection racket and the "protection" of Jessner by Madison police began, Mr. Rubin told the jury when the wholesaler from whom Jessner had been purchasing liquor withdrew before he considered the "cost of protection" too high.

Jessner then ceased trafficking in liquor, the attorney asserted, and the officers "framed" the restaurant proprietor when he refused to sell his places. Rubin asserted that Jessner had pleaded guilty to violating the liquor law and went to the Milwaukee House of Correction rather than bare the rack.

Rubin related that Jessner, freed from prison, returned to Madison obsessed with a "revenge" complex" resulting in the slaying of Thompson at the door of Jessner's restaurant.

District Attorney Philip LaFollette declared that Jessner saw Thompson "step" into the restaurant the night of the slaying, accompanied by Patrolman Earl Hessling, and warned them to move on as the lights were extinguished. Thompson warned Jessner he had no right to extinguish the lights with patrons present. Mr. LaFollette said, and that the officer started to enter the place when Jessner replied "I won't turn on the lights for any cop." Jessner fired as he reached the first step, the district attorney maintained, inflicting a mortal wound.

AWAIT DETAILS OF SHIPWRECK

Small Steamer Reported Wrecked in Upper Waters of Amazon River

Rio De Janeiro—(AP)—Details of the disaster with the smaller steamer Paes De Carvalho met last Monday 1,200 miles up the Amazon river in tropical waters infested by crocodiles, are being anxiously awaited here. The steamer is variously reported as having been burned and blown up with heavy casualties, one report giving the aggregate dead as 33 and another as 38.

Owing to the fact that the disaster occurred in an almost uninhabited section on the Splinoes river, one of the upper branches of the Amazon in the vicinity of Manaus, communication with the region is difficult. The latest information is that, while the steamer was nearing Coary, a fire broke out in a mattress in a third class cabin where a man had been smoking. An attempt was made to throw the mattress overboard but the flames set fire to cans of kerosene and gasoline and spread rapidly to a quantity of powder which exploded, wrecking the steamer.

The report said the captain, second officer, first engineer, nine members of the crew, and 26 passengers were lost. A previous report declared that the captain, first and second engineer and 30 passengers perished.

All advances received thus far indicate that 70 persons, passengers and members of the crew, were rescued.

IMPRISON CHINESE AND RUSSIANS IN CANTON

Peking—(AP)—Official telegrams state that Gen Chang Kai-Shek, assisted by C. C. Wu and other prominent Chinese and Russian communists, have been killed.

A number of Chinese and Russian communists are reported to have been killed.

A Canton dispatch on Jan. 11 said that despite the efforts of M. Sun Yat Sen, widow of the late president of South China, to bring about peace, opponents of General Chang Kai-Shek, "red" leader and military power of south China, were seeking to oust him because of his alleged extreme opportunism in conducting all matters. Dr. C. C. Wu was formerly vice minister of foreign affairs of the Canton government.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR POWER AND LIGHT ADOPTED

Traction Company Announces Cheaper Electricity for Consumers

Electric light and power rate reductions which will reduce the monthly bills of practically every consumer of light and some power consumers of Wisconsin Traction Light and Power Co. were announced by A. K. Ellis, vice president and general manager of the company, Tuesday morning. The reduction is entirely voluntary on the part of the company, Mr. Ellis said, and was made in accordance with the policy which the company has established in making voluntary reductions in its rates from time to time as conditions permit, thus sharing with its customers the benefits of increased economies in operation. The official statement declared. The new rates become effective of May 1.

The company also has filed with the railroad commission new schedules for combined light and power rate and for its standard power rate.

LARGE SAVINGS

Traction company officials believe the new rates for residential lighting and power will mean large savings to customers, in some instances amounting to 25 to 35 per cent. The new rates apply to the company's entire system but there is a slight difference in the first step in the new rates in Appleton, Neenah and Menasha and in the rural districts.

The rate applicable to residences known as the active room rate which has been used successfully all over the country. This rate makes it possible for customers to obtain full use of electric service for all characteristics of electric appliances at reduced costs. All energy is to be measured through one meter.

In order to compute the charge for service under this rate the company has arranged that all rooms in a home, including a garage, shall be considered active rooms except bedrooms, bath, bathroom, a small, closed, back porch and a ball unless hall contains 120 square feet. All other rooms in the home are to be considered active rooms for the purpose of computing charge. Thus if a person has a lighted garage and a seven room house containing kitchen, dining room, living room, bathroom, four bed rooms, garage and basement his rate will be computed on the basis of five active rooms (kitchen, dining room, living room, one bedroom and garage). If he has no garage he will have only four active rooms.

THE NEW RATE

Following is the rate schedule for this class of service in Appleton, Neenah and Menasha:

A primary charge of 10 cents per kilowatt-hour for the first 5 kilowatt-hours consumed per month for each of the first five active rooms, and also for the first 2 1/2 kilowatt-hours consumed per month for each active room in addition to the first five.

A secondary charge of 7 cents per kilowatt-hour for all energy consumed per month in excess of that paid for at the primary rate charge up to a total of nine kilowatt hours per month per active room.

A tertiary charge of 3 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour for all energy consumed per month in excess of that paid at the primary charge and the secondary charge, or for all energy consumed in excess of 9 kilowatt hours per active room per month.

HOW IT WORKS

Probably the simplest explanation of the new rate is a concrete example of the difference in monthly bills between the new rate and the one now in effect.

A family with a seven room house and garage, including five active rooms using 60 kilowatt-hours in a month would pay $4.39 under the new rate whereas under the present rate the bill would be $6.20. If he had four active rooms and used 60 kilowatt-hours per month his bill under the new rate would be $3.84 as compared with $6.20 under the present rates.

In the rural districts, that is everywhere outside of Appleton, Menasha and Neenah, the primary charge will be 10 cents per kilowatt hour for the first five kilowatt hours per month for the first five active rooms. The rates for the other steps will be the same as in the three cities. The primary charge in the rural rates will be a half-cent lower than the present primary charge.

Large consumers of electricity for power and light also will benefit from the new rate.

PERFECT CRIME SYSTEM DUG UP

Police Unearth Plan Which Had Billion Dollar Loot as Object

New York—(AP)—Secrecy was being maintained by the police Tuesday regarding a "perfect crime system" which had a billion dollar loot throughout the United States as its objective.

The system was devised by the Whitmore gang of night club frequenters now in custody.

So perfect was the system, as outlined from two sources among the arrested men, that acting District Attorney Pecora has declined to reveal "More harm than you could imagine would be done the youth of the country if the plan were made public," said Mr. Pecora. "We have learned how highly systematic was the crime organization which the gang members formed. The Whitmore band was the most highly organized I ever heard of. They had planned to operate on a national scale with a billion dollar loot as their goal."

The system was no failure-proof that Mr. Pecora attributed the band's capture largely to luck.

The band of six men and a woman, known as "the tiger girl" is active, headed by Richard Rose Whitmore of Baltimore, wanted in that city for murder and identified as one of the gang which killed two Buffalo men in a $95,000 hold up recently.

The slaying of at least one member who balked at orders also is attributed to the gang.

The police learned about the system from a 22 page confession by Anthony Pandina.

WAUKESHA ELIMINATED FROM STATE TOURNAMENT

Madison—Wausau defeated Waukesha 15 to 9 in a basketball game in the consolation series of the state high school basketball tournament here Thursday. Waukesha led at the end of the half, 7 to 1, but the work of the Graciner brothers soon overcame this lead. The Waukesha team is entirely eliminated from the tournament. Wausau Friday will meet the winner of the Fond du Lac-La Crosse game.

At the end of the first half of the second afternoon game, La Crosse was leading Fond du Lac, 9 to 4. Appleton was to play Eau Claire at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Like the famous Ford, it kept right on going—until it accomplished just what she wanted it to do.

But in the meantime it had gotten in touch with fifteen people who wanted to buy the stroller which Mrs. Lynch, 520 W. Commercial St., had offered for sale.

"The first call in reply to the ad came at half past five and they continued till half past nine. Also received a call the morning after the ad ran" Mrs. Lynch told us.

From which we gather that the market for baby strollers is as busy as ever.

If YOU have anything of this nature to sell, call 543 and ask for an ad-taker.

CHARGE JUDGE WITH ABUSE OF COURT POWERS

Five Articles Are Filed Against Jurist by Judiciary Committee

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Formal articles of impeachment against Federal Judge George W. English of the eastern Illinois district were presented to the house Thursday by its judiciary committee.

The articles were five in number, and were based on evidence presented at prolonged hearings. A minority of the committee held this evidence insufficient and recommended against impeachment.

Article 1 charged the jurist with the abuse of the powers of his office, and with "arbitrary and oppressive" exercise of his power in the administration of justice into disrepute.

Article 2 charged that he was guilty of a course of "improper and unlawful conduct" filled with "partiality and favoritism resulting in the crowding of a combination to control and manage, with Charles B. Thomas, referee in bankruptcy, for their own interests and profits" bankruptcy affairs of the eastern district of Illinois.

Article 3 charged that the judge was guilty of misbehavior in office and that he "corruptly extended partiality and favoritism" to Thomas and "by his corrupt and partiality as judge" brought the administration of justice into discredit and disrepute, degraded the dignity of the court and destroyed the confidence of the public in its integrity.

Article 4 charged that in conjunction with Thomas he "did corruptly and improperly handle and control the deposit of bankruptcy and other funds under his control by depositing, transferring, and using the funds for the pecuniary benefit of himself" and Thomas.

Article 5 charged that Judge English at divers times and places, repeatedly in his judicial capacity, treated members of the bar in a "manly, coarse, indecent, arbitrary and tyrannical" and in other ways "condemned himself in a manner unbefitting the high position which he holds."

Each article concluded with the statement that the jurist was and is guilty of misbehavior as judge and of a misdemeanor in office.

The house is expected to act on the committee's recommendation within a few days.

STUDENT KILLS THEATER DANCER

Tragedy in Berlin Results in Death of Two American Citizens

Berlin—(AP)—John B. Goodrich, a medical student from Monroe, N. J., early today shot and killed Miss Alice Fitzner of Cleveland, Ohio, a dancer at a theatre, and then took his own life. The tragedy occurred in an automobile. Jealousy is presumed to have been the motive.

Goodrich applied last March for a marriage license, but apparently it never had been used. He and Miss Fitzner were engaged.

Goodrich died immediately after the shooting but Miss Fitzner lived for a few hours in a hospital.

Goodrich, who was 23 years old and a student at the University of Berlin, was the son of the late Rev. Goodrich of Leominster, N. H. He had been studying medicine in Germany for three years having been in Bonn and Munich before coming to Berlin.

Miss Fitzner, who was 21 years old, was a member of the cast of the review "Fuer Dich." She appeared in the ballet and sang several songs.

WAUSAU MAN GORED TO DEATH BY BULL

Wausau—(AP)—August Kniss, aged 80 years, for 51 years a resident of the town of Hamburg, was fatally mangled by a bull at the home of his son, Otto, Tuesday afternoon, dying before a physician arrived. When rescued after both he and the animal were exhausted, he still retained hold of the ring in the antlers nose and there were evidences of a hard struggle. There were no witnesses, a passing neighbor observing the man lying in the barn yard under the bull.

HALLS OF CONGRESS WILL BE OBJECT OF DRY AGENTS' HUNT

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Prohibition enforcement officers said Thursday they intended to clean the halls of congress of liquor if there is any to be found there.

While G. T. Murphy, chief of the district of Columbia prohibition agents, said he had been unable so far to connect the alleged visit of George L. Cassiday to the house office building Saturday with a case of intoxicants with any members of congress or their staffs, he intended to expose the capital situation thoroughly, and if the slightest odor of booze was discerned, to go the limit.

The announcement not only follows upon arrest of Cassiday, but charges and condemnation of recent visits during prohibition debates in the capital of bootleggers finding this officers of the house and senate a most fruitful place for business.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR POWER AND LIGHT ADOPTED

Traction Company Announces Cheaper Electricity for Consumers

Electric light and power rate reductions which will reduce the monthly bills of practically every consumer of light and some power consumers of Wisconsin Traction Light and Power Co. were announced by A. A primary charge of 10 cents per kilowatt-hour for the first 5 kilowatt-hours consumed per month for each of the first five active rooms, and also for the first 2 1/2 kilowatt-hours consumed per month for each active room in addition to the first five.

A secondary charge of 7 cents per kilowatt-hour for all energy consumed per month in excess of that paid for at the primary rate charge up to a total of nine kilowatt hours per month per active room.

A tertiary charge of 3 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour for all energy consumed per month in excess of that paid at the primary charge and the secondary charge, or for all energy consumed in excess of 9 kilowatt hours per active room per month.

HOW IT WORKS

Probably the simplest explanation of the new rate is a concrete example of the difference in monthly bills between the new rate and the one now in effect.

A family with a seven room house and garage, including five active rooms using 60 kilowatt-hours in a month would pay $4.39 under the new rate whereas under the present rate the bill would be $6.20. If he had four active rooms and used 60 kilowatt-hours per month his bill under the new rate would be $3.84 as compared with $6.20 under the present rates.

In the rural districts, that is everywhere outside of Appleton, Menasha and Neenah, the primary charge will be 10 cents per kilowatt hour for the first five kilowatt hours per month for the first five active rooms. The rates for the other steps will be the same as in the three cities. The primary charge in the rural rates will be a half-cent lower than the present primary charge.

Large consumers of electricity for power and light also will benefit from the new rate.

PERFECT CRIME SYSTEM DUG UP

Police Unearth Plan Which Had Billion Dollar Loot as Object

New York—(AP)—Secrecy was being maintained by the police Tuesday regarding a "perfect crime system" which had a billion dollar loot throughout the United States as its objective.

The system was devised by the Whitmore gang of night club frequenters now in custody.

So perfect was the system, as outlined from two sources among the arrested men, that acting District Attorney Pecora has declined to reveal "More harm than you could imagine would be done the youth of the country if the plan were made public," said Mr. Pecora. "We have learned how highly systematic was the crime organization which the gang members formed. The Whitmore band was the most highly organized I ever heard of. They had planned to operate on a national scale with a billion dollar loot as their goal."

The system was no failure-proof that Mr. Pecora attributed the band's capture largely to luck.

The band of six men and a woman, known as "the tiger girl" is active, headed by Richard Rose Whitmore of Baltimore, wanted in that city for murder and identified as one of the gang which killed two Buffalo men in a $95,000 hold up recently.

The slaying of at least one member who balked at orders also is attributed to the gang.

The police learned about the system from a 22 page confession by Anthony Pandina.

WAUKESHA ELIMINATED FROM STATE TOURNAMENT

Madison—Wausau defeated Waukesha 15 to 9 in a basketball game in the consolation series of the state high school basketball tournament here Thursday. Waukesha led at the end of the half, 7 to 1, but the work of the Graciner brothers soon overcame this lead. The Waukesha team is entirely eliminated from the tournament. Wausau Friday will meet the winner of the Fond du Lac-La Crosse game.

At the end of the first half of the second afternoon game, La Crosse was leading Fond du Lac, 9 to 4. Appleton was to play Eau Claire at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Her Classified Ad "Strolled" Right Along

Like the famous Ford, it kept right on going—until it accomplished just what she wanted it to do.

But in the meantime it had gotten in touch with fifteen people who wanted to buy the stroller which Mrs. Lynch, 520 W. Commercial St., had offered for sale.

"The first call in reply to the ad came at half past five and they continued till half past nine. Also received a call the morning after the ad ran" Mrs. Lynch told us.

From which we gather that the market for baby strollers is as busy as ever.

If YOU have anything of this nature to sell, call 543 and ask for an ad-taker.

CHARGE JUDGE WITH ABUSE OF COURT POWERS

Five Articles Are Filed Against Jurist by Judiciary Committee

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Formal articles of impeachment against Federal Judge George W. English of the eastern Illinois district were presented to the house Thursday by its judiciary committee.

The articles were five in number, and were based on evidence presented at prolonged hearings. A minority of the committee held this evidence insufficient and recommended against impeachment.

Article 1 charged the jurist with the abuse of the powers of his office, and with "arbitrary and oppressive" exercise of his power in the administration of justice into disrepute.

Article 2 charged that he was guilty of a course of "improper and unlawful conduct" filled with "partiality and favoritism resulting in the crowding of a combination to control and manage, with Charles B. Thomas, referee in bankruptcy, for their own interests and profits" bankruptcy affairs of the eastern district of Illinois.

Article 3 charged that the judge was guilty of misbehavior in office and that he "corruptly extended partiality and favoritism" to Thomas and "by his corrupt and partiality as judge" brought the administration of justice into discredit and disrepute, degraded the dignity of the court and destroyed the confidence of the public in its integrity.

Article 4 charged that in conjunction with Thomas he "did corruptly and improperly handle and control the deposit of bankruptcy and other funds under his control by depositing, transferring, and using the funds for the pecuniary benefit of himself" and Thomas.

9 AUTOMOBILES ARE DESTROYED IN GARAGE FIRE

Bunkelman's Auto Livery of Seymour Is Razed Early Thursday Morning

Seymour — Nine automobiles belonging to W. F. Bunkelman were destroyed early Thursday morning when fire, believed to have started from defective wiring, razed the building occupied by Bunkelman's Auto Livery. The loss, which is estimated at from $6,000 to $10,000, is partially covered by insurance.

The automobiles destroyed included one bus, one auto hearse, three trucks and four passenger cars.

The fire was discovered about 1:15 Thursday morning by four young men of this city, William Van den Berg, Leonard Kroner, Earnest Schuester, and Roy Bunkelman, who were returning home from a party. They turned in the alarm at once and the Seymour Fire department arrived on the scene a short time later.

The fire had gained such headway when discovered, however, that the firemen were unable to save the building. Only the walls, which were constructed of tile, remain standing.

A small supply of auto accessories and tires also were lost.

WILSON CLASSES ABOVE AVERAGE

Students Receive Good Grades in Special Reading Tests, Small Reports

Each of the three grades in the Wilson junior high school has an average above the standard in reading according to Dr. M. H. Small who submitted a report at the weekly meeting of principals of the junior and senior high schools with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of school, Tuesday morning. Some of the students fell below the standard grade in special tests recently held. Dr. Small said, but the grades were above average in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

James T. Munsell, professor of education at Lawrence college, met the principals to discuss the feasibility of having a few education students from the college observation work in the classes in the junior and senior high school.

A letter was received from Sol Lovison, state treasurer, who will speak at Lawrence college this week, asking if the schools would like to have him talk to the students of the junior and senior high school. H. V. Feltbe, principal of Appleton high school, was appointed to make arrangements for the meeting.

Mr. Rohan announced that the Woody McCall arithmetic tests, the Mixed Fundamentals would be given in the schools in a few weeks. These tests will partially determine how far the Appleton students have come in the work expected from the different age groups.

LAKE STATES WIN FIRST SKIRMISH
The sanitary district of Chicago and the state of Illinois lost their first move in the water steal case, when the supreme court of the United States refused to dismiss the proceedings brought by Wisconsin and other states challenging the right of diversion. The decision is, of course, preliminary and has nothing to do with the merits of the controversy, and yet it sustains the right of the protesting lake states to seek relief against the defendants in the manner they have employed.
The questions in this case revolve about the charge that the diversion of water has unduly affected navigation on the Great Lakes, and the further proposition that neither congress nor any other branch of government has a right to authorize the withdrawal of lake water in quantities that would affect their levels.
We think the contention of the lake states on both propositions is sound. The place to take care of Chicago's lawless acts is in the supreme court, and not in politics where Chicago has sought to fortify herself. The lake states have Chicago in a corner where humbug, arrogance and chicanery accomplish nothing. The cards have to be put on the table face up and the rights of the lake states determined in the light of the constitution, and the broad principle of equity on which the proprietorship of these great bodies of water rests.

CLOUD ON CHAMBERLAIN
London dispatches are to the effect that Austen Chamberlain, British secretary of foreign affairs, is a fallen hero and a discredited statesman. These dispatches, it is pertinent to add, come from "special correspondents." They or the papers they represent in America want us to see Mr. Chamberlain put on the shelf, nevertheless, the British secretary obtained a vote of confidence in the house of commons by a majority of more than two to one.
Mr. Lloyd George led the attack on Chamberlain's acts at Locarno and Geneva. It was a bitter arraignment, and it revived the story that Chamberlain had given a secret promise to France and Poland to support Poland's demand for a permanent seat on the League of Nations council. Of course, the whole case against the foreign secretary rests on this charge. When Mr. Chamberlain got the floor he entered a vigorous denial, asserting that no secret promise was made beyond the admission that M. Briand had told him of Poland's ambition and he had agreed that it would be a good thing if Poland could get into the council without upsetting Germany. Such an indorsement of French policy might be in the nature of intrigue, and on the other hand it might not be a breach of good faith. It would depend upon the circumstances and the extent to which Mr. Chamberlain proposed to go.
Whatever the exact truth, the suspicion of British duplicity is not cleared away. And because it is not cleared away, the vote of confidence given Mr. Chamberlain does not remove the cloud which attaches to Franco-British conduct at Geneva. Conditions may not be as bad in Europe as the news dispatches would have us believe Ambassador Houghton reported to the president and secretary of state, but the policies of the allies are in the balance. They are being weighed in an adverse atmosphere, and they are responsible for creating the atmosphere.

The world still has a feeling that France and Great Britain have not been dealing openly. This impression will have to be removed by positive acts between now and the time the League council reassembles in September, if the prestige of the League is not to permanently suffer, and along with it confidence in allied diplomacy.

HOW BLAINE HELPS FARMERS
The Blaine administration poses as the champion of the farmer. It is the champion of anything and any class where there are votes, but it is particularly warm to the farmers.

Several years ago the question of state cooperation in eradicating tuberculosis from Wisconsin cattle became acute. It was apparent that the interests of livestock and dairy industries in the state demanded tubercular-free herds. The work of eradication was going on slowly, but the indications were unmistakable that the time was near at hand when outside markets would demand the tubercular test. Because of the extensiveness of these industries in Wisconsin and their vital relation to the prosperity of the farmer and the people at large, it was good business judgment for the state to give the maximum of assistance to the farmers in cleaning up their herds.

An appropriation from the legislature of one million dollars annually for two years and $750,000 annually for the next three years was proposed, so that Wisconsin farmers would be able to wipe out cattle tuberculosis at a minimum of loss and inconvenience. The appropriation failed. Last year in the legislature the demand for adequate appropriations was renewed, and again turned down by the Blaine administration. The result is that today the funds are exhausted and the application of the tuberculin test on an extensive scale has to be dropped. This despite the fact that last winter when the appropriations were pending it was evident that Wisconsin had to face the ordinance since adopted by the city of Chicago to exclude milk after April 1st from sources other than tuberculin tested cows.

Was this Blaine indifference taking care of the farmer's interests, or was it a plain disregard of business prudence and the playing of expensive politics? The farmers can answer the question for themselves. The rebellion in Brown county against the tuberculin test is quite beyond the point. It is doomed to failure and to the further unnecessary burdening of livestock owners, which they will come to discover after they are through with the advisers who are misleading them and they have to deal with realities.

TODAY'S POEM
By HUL COCHRAN
Just as sure as father comes home at night, and sits himself down for a rest, his knees soon are holding a cute tiny mite and he's put to a strenuous test.
The question, fit wild, as the dear little child wants to know what has happened that day, "The answer must come whether small ones or dumb, just so father has something to say."
Then was little son, when the questioning's done, gathers daddy right into a train. "He'll hunt all around till the newspapers found, then he'll hop right back into his lap."
"Does dad want to read?" is a sure word lead, for a while things are still as can be. Then the patience gives way and the youngster will say, "Will you please read the funnies to me?"
Ma, be some of these people old enough to know better seemings, not foolish because they do know better.
Economy often consists of doing without what you want so you can have what you think you want.
Senator Boah might get arrested for contempt of the world court.
Birmingham, Ala., had a saxophone contest, but the winner escaped.
While cops don't make much in some towns they get their drinks free.
Jailed a Charleston dancer in New York, but not because of it.
No matter if skirts are short, they shouldn't be abandoned.
One worry a poor man never has is about which suit to wear.
Your life may be an open book, but there are all kinds of books.
No man is old until he needs a shave about half the time.
Others' opportunities always seem to be better than yours.
Being a deep thinker is all right, but water from a spring is usually better than water from a well.
The man worth $5000 worries because it isn't six instead of being glad it isn't four.
You're got to keep whistling if you want things to keep humming.

BUT WHY QUIT?
For the fourth or fifth year, writes a man aged 38, married, with two assets and a liability, I have made a New Year resolution to quit smoking and have kept it for a week or two and then resumed. I wonder if you can suggest something to help me quit smoking cigars. (E. B.)
There is nothing in cigars different in quality from the tobacco effect a devotee gets from chewing pipe, snuffing Georgia dust, hitting the pipe or eating a stogie yet there is an important psychological distinction which has a bearing on the matter of habit. The popular prejudice against cigars is that is the prejudice popular with people who do not smoke or like cigars, has good ground. I think, though frankly I share the prejudice.
Naughty, smart Aleck, ill trained, incorrigible delinquent boys commonly cultivate the cigar habit, and now days mentally defective girls likewise cultivate the habit. To cultivate a habit you must first try it out of curiosity, bravado or other impulse, that's the way we learn to like olives, grapefruit, oysters, tomatoes, poetry and writing for the press.
Females sometimes take snuff sometimes smoke a pipe, in some countries they prefer cigars, rarely they chew, but usually they choose cigars. A female of weak character indulges in cigars secretly. A female with an inferiority complex indulges publicly. A regular girl not at all.
Aside from these associations, the cigar habit deserves the prejudice which employers have against it, for the habitual cigar smoker is usually a waster and careless or negligent in his work.
Of all forms of tobacco habit the cigar habit is the most difficult to have. Whenever it is a habit at all it generally has the victim. The cigar smoker finds a smoke scarcely sufficient to satisfy the craving even for the time being, and he craves an "other smoke" soon afterward. This readily leads to the excesses so common among victims of this habit. A cigar or pipe smoker has to be a "ventable" to carry his indulgence to such excess as to interfere with his efficiency.
Men seldom begin smoking pipes or cigars until they are old enough to have a fairly well developed character of their own. No man should begin to use tobacco until he is 21. But actually the habit of boyhood indulgence in tobacco is encouraged by the market.

When a man's man it is up to him to decide whether he will use tobacco, but if he is a man he will never surrender to the tobacco habit even though he elects to use the weed.
If a man's a man he will never inflict his second hand smoke upon people who may not enjoy it. He will not mix his smoking with business work or play, first because that is the way of the hog and second because he cannot do his best when he is under the narcotic effect of tobacco. A smoker who has the bad old habit is master of the habit. He serves his smoke for the hour of rest or relaxation after the day's work or play is done, and he derives infinitely more enjoyment from his smoking than the tobacco hog ever knows.
It would be much more difficult, I fancy, for the cigarette smoker to follow this plan of temperate smoking than it is for the man who uses pipe or cigars.
There is no question that tobacco causes very serious injury to health, but there is no evidence that temperate smoking does so.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Embolism
I have been told that embolism is the obstruction of the pulmonary artery by a clot of blood. What is the cause of this clot? Can it be detected before it happens? Is it really possible? (E. B.)
Answer: The fragment of blood which lodges in the pulmonary artery is one detached from a clot in the right heart in a case of mural thrombosis or from a clot in the uterus or a clot in a thrombosed carotid vein. Embolism cannot be foretold. Embolism causes sudden death in some instances. Or the patient may suddenly experience extreme difficulty in breathing, then become blue and unconscious. Only a small chance of recovery from embolism. But embolism the obstructing particle being fat droplets sometimes happens after a fracture of bone or a severe burn and there is a better chance for recovery from fat embolism. Air embolism is a rare complication of a wound of a large vein.

LAND OF CHEER
The trail that leads to the land of cheer is an easy road to find. There's a soul who is living here who needs to be left behind.
If you blaze your way with a thousand smiles and can fill the air with song, you can travel on through the happy miles and join with the laughing throng.
Your life's too short for the solemn side, and you lose your pep when blue. Hop onto the smile ship and take a ride, if your spirit can carry you through.
Be friendly with folk whom you meet each day and put out the glad hand strong. Remember that life is all work and play. When you make it all work and play, you're wrong.
Walk into line while the fallow good. Take the tip while your chance is here. Be a good scout 'cause you know you should. You'll land in the land of cheer.

The horse may be going, but a lot of married people will tell you that the old "nag" still lives on.
If they took all the women away, what would follow? I don't know about the rest of you men—but I can answer for myself.
Sometimes a man acquires a vocabulary simply by getting married.

ABILITY TO READ
IN SCHOOLS HERE

Ninth Grade Pupils Show as Much Aptitude as Average
Eleventh Grade Student

Reading ability in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades of Roosevelt Junior high school is well above the average, according to standard Thorndike-McCall reading tests given to the students within the last few weeks. Standards for the tests are taken from the results of testing about 50,000 school children in the United States, and are used as the average criteria for measuring reading ability in practically all schools in the country.

The Thorndike-McCall tests measure two things: How much the child is doing in relation to others of his age, and how well the class is doing in comparison with other classes or grades of the same rank. Ben J. Nathan, superintendent of schools said, the seventh grade pupils of Roosevelt school measured 6.5 per cent above the average percentage in individual accomplishment, or they attained an average of 106.5 per cent in relation to the 100 per cent taken as an average standard. The eighth grade pupils ranked 106.7 per cent, and the ninth graders ranked 107.9 per cent.

11TH GRADE AVERAGE
The ninth grade in Roosevelt school did reading work equal to that of the average eleventh grade in the Thorndike-McCall tests. For the score of the Roosevelt students was 64.8, while the average score of the country was only 61.95 for ninth grade pupils. The average score of the eleventh grade in reading is 64.5, or one tenth of a point lower than the Roosevelt high graders.

The score made by eighth graders is also higher than the average score by about two points, which placed the class a little over a year ahead of the average eighth grade. The eighth grade score at Roosevelt school is 61.75, and the average for the country is 59.6. Roosevelt seventh grade was a little above the average but not so marked a degree as the other two grades in the school. The score of Roosevelt seventh grade is 56.2 and for the average seventh grade it is 56 per cent.

ANSWER QUESTIONS
The tests consist of a series of statements, followed by questions on the texts of the statements. Scores are measured by the number of questions answered correctly. The statements are graduated in the difficulty of comprehension so that they may be used for very young children and senior high school students with equal success, it is said.

Venus Warm Enough To Be Habitable, Scientists Say

BY DAVID DIETZ
Mt. Wilson, Calif.—The planet Venus may be uninhabited. The chance of there being life on Venus is infinitely better than in the case of Mars.

This is the most striking result of a research being carried on here at the Mount Wilson Observatory by two of the world's best known astronomers, Dr. S. B. Nicholson and Dr. Edwin P. Pettit.

They have been measuring the temperatures of the planets using a piece of apparatus known as the thermocouple which is so sensitive that it would measure the heat of a candle one hundred miles away.

The thermocouple consists of a junction of two different metals placed in a vacuum tube. This is placed at the end of a telescope. Light from a planet heats the joint. This heating sets up an electric current equal to about a billionth of an ampere. By measuring this current with sensitive ammeters, they are able to calculate the temperature of the planet.

From this study, Dr. Nicholson and Dr. Pettit say that they arrive at conclusions which might be interpreted as indicating that conditions on Venus were suitable for life.

On the other hand, they feel positive that conditions on Mars are not suitable for life.

"If any planet is inhabited, it is Venus," says Dr. Pettit. "If I had to take my chance on either Venus or Mars, I'd certainly pick Venus."

"Our study indicates a temperature of 15 degrees below zero on the planet Venus," Dr. Pettit told me.

"But we know from direct observations with the telescope that we never see the surface of the planet Venus. The planet is covered with a thick layer of clouds. Occasionally we see darker spots which may be mountain tops poking through when the clouds are a little thinner."

"Therefore the temperature which we measure on Venus is the temperature of the upper side of the clouds. Furthermore, we get the same temperature readings for all parts of Venus, whether we measure the side of Venus where it is day or night."

"Consequently our temperature readings must be for what is known as the isothermal layer, that is the layer of the atmosphere where the temperature is the same all over."

"Our earth has such a layer. It is seven miles above the surface of the earth. Its temperature is 67 degrees below zero or four times as cold as the temperature we get from what is evidently the same sort of layer on Venus."

"This makes things look pretty good for Venus. Of course we cannot say with certainty what temperatures on the surface of Venus might be. But since Venus is clouded, the temperature must be high enough at least to permit the existence of water vapor in the sky."

"It is also of interest to point out that Venus is about the same size as our earth having a diameter just a little smaller than that of our earth."

"So while it is impossible to make any positive statement about life on Venus, it is not unreasonable to say that if any planet is inhabited, it probably is Venus."

Mrs. Nicholson and Dr. Pettit, who are too cold and has too little atmosphere to support life as we know it.

SPEND BILLION ON U. S. ROADS

U. S. Roads Bureau Predicts Huge Program of Highway Construction in 1926

Highway construction and maintenance in 1926 will equal and possibly exceed the progress made in any other year, according to estimates from the various states compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. A total of $1,030,286,948 is available for the construction and maintenance of all rural roads.

Fifty-eight per cent or $595,590,948 is to be available to the state highway departments of which $461,515,400 is for construction and $137,075,548 for maintenance. These funds will provide for the construction of 8,751 miles of asphalt concrete and bitum paving 14,320 miles of sand-gravel and macadam and 8,145 miles of improved earth road. The states also plan to maintain 234,382 miles of road.

The total expenditure by counties and local units for both maintenance and construction is estimated at $411,694,000, which is less than the rural estimate made one year ago by about $31,000,000. This reduction is due to a cut-off of highway funds in the case of more than $55,000,000 in the estimate for 1925, which is attributed to the State highway department. For a number of years there has been a trend toward placing the control of all important state roads in the hands of the state highway departments.

Wisconsin's probable highway expenditure is estimated at $20,970,000 for which $5,143,654.95 is available in state aid. The sum to be spent by local authorities is estimated at $10,700,000.

EXAMS CLOSE WINTER TERM AT LAWRENCE

The winter term of Lawrence college closed officially Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the final exams for the second quarter were given. The recess will last until Tuesday, March 30, when registration for the spring term will take place.

The passing of the third term will mark the end of the quarter system at the college. Next year Lawrence will be under the semester system, having two terms instead of the three as at present.

MOTORCOP PUTS IN APPEARANCE FOR FIRST TIME

Appleton speeders, stepping heavily on the "gas" when spring fever caused by the warm weather attacked them, received a jolt Tuesday when Officer Carl Radtke, former motorcycle officer, returned to his old duty. Carl's familiar "bike," running in perfect order, patrolled the avenue and side streets all day. He will continue with the work throughout the summer.

A second motorcycle officer has not been engaged yet but Chief George T. Prim expects to have him in the saddle in a few days to enforce the speed laws more strictly than ever this year.

Both officers will be furnished with modern equipment, as the common council provided enough money in the city's budget for the purchase of two new motorcycles and two sidecars. In view of this the police department does not expect many speeders to escape from the "bike" riders.

TO BUILD 5 HOMES ON LAKE PARKE RESERVE

Construction of five homes just south of the city limits on the tract of land facing E. Calumet-st and S. Canada-sts will be started in a few weeks by F. J. Bucholz, Green Bay and Appleton real estate dealer, who recently acquired the property. Engineers will begin taking out streets and lots as soon as weather and ground conditions permit. Mr. Bucholz will ask for bids for the construction of the new homes at once and expects to award the building contract not later than 10 days from the time bids are called for.

The plot which has been named Lake Park Reserve was accepted by the town board of the town of Harrison Calumet-co in which the land is located, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon. With this acceptance the plot is acceptable for record, which will be filed at the register of deeds office of Calumet-co within the next few days.

BUCK JONES STARS IN GREGORY STORY.

It seems that Jackson Gregory writes stories to order for Buck Jones, the William Fox western star. "The Outlaw," one of his most recent books, has been made into a picture. "Hearts and Spurs," starring Jones, at the New Bijou Theatre Friday and Saturday. It is a real western thriller.

"Hearts and Spurs," is a story of a courageous cow puncher who sacrifices himself in order to protect the brother of the girl he loves.

The picture has a thrilling chase and several slam-bang fights, culminated by an avalanche which buries the hero and the villain in a shack. The villain is mortally hurt and, on his deathbed, assumes all the blame for the crime committed by the girl's brother.

Carol Lombard is Buck Jones' leading lady. Freeman Wood plays the brother and William Davidson is the villain. Others in the cast are: J. Gordon Russell, Jean Lamont, Wall Robinson, Charles Eldridge and Robert Littlefield. The picture was directed by W. S. Van Dyke from a scenario by John Stone.

SHERMAN WAS RIGHT: WAR SURE IS HEIL IN "THREE FACES EAST"

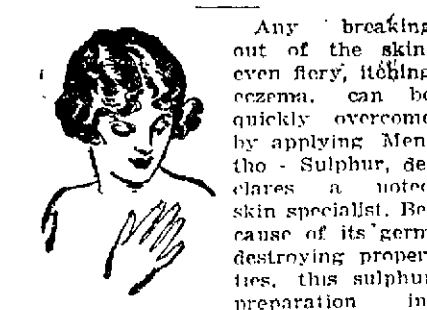

That famous statement Sherman made about war applies to the "movies" as well as to the real thing, as any extra in a war picture will tell you.

On a recent ideal California night, which means not hot but rather cool, Rupert Julian was directing a war scene in "Three Faces East" and with the aid of a fire hose he had succeeded in making the street of this deserted village a sea of mud, and by shooting the water up in the air gave the effect of a huge down-pour.

During the war, no doubt German prisoners marched through the muddy streets of some shell-torn town, but that would end it. But into this scene marched two hundred or so "German Prisoners" each endowed with the burning desire of some day being a star. They marched up and down the streets until the scene gave the right effect, and that was not until the wee hours of the morning. As for art's sake, and, oh, what a murder of shoe leather.

The featured cast includes Jetta

DRAMATIC PHOTOPLAY

If you are one of Kathleen Norris's enthusiastic readers, and enjoy the worth-while productions of Warner Bros., and want your players to act like real people, then the one picture you will not want to miss is "Rose of the World," which is showing at the Elit Theatre today and tomorrow. The story deals with the love of Rose Kirby (Patsy Ruth Miller) to be revealed when Jack Talbot (Alan Forrest) jilts her to marry Edith Rodgers (Pauline Caron). She herself marries Clyde (Rockcliffe Fellowes) but finds her own desire for revenge awakening before the almost insane obsession of her husband to wreck the Talbots. Through a series of engrossing incidents to a dramatic climax, "Rose of the World" moves with intense rapidity when the girl finds that her love is stronger than her desire for revenge. The remainder of the cast includes Barbara Luddy, Helen Dunbar, Alec Francis, Lydia Knott, Edward Mel, Jr., and Carrie Clark Ward. Dorothy Farnum adapted the novel to the screen and Julien Josephson wrote the scenario. The photography, strikingly beautiful throughout the entire production, is credited to Dagid Abel.

CANVASS RAISES RULE'S LEAD IN PRIMARY TO 219

Mistake in Report of Second Precinct of Second Ward Revealed at Council Meeting

Albert C. Rule's lead in the race for mayor in the primary election was increased to 219 votes over his opponent, Nelson John Goodland Jr., when it was found that a mistake had been made in the report of the second ward. The first report credited Mr. Goodland with 57 votes which should have gone to Mr. Rule. This was revealed by the official canvass of the votes at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday evening. Mr. Goodland was given 112 votes and Mr. Rule 75 in this precinct when the votes were first tabulated but further investigation showed that these figures should have been reversed giving the mayor 75 and Mr. Rule 112. This raised Mr. Rule's total vote to 172 and reduced Mr. Goodland's total to 148.

The canvass in the race for assessor gave George Fowler, the leading candidate a total of 693 or 16 less than he was at first credited with. Charles Schrimpf, the other candidate whose name will be placed on the election ticket, received 823 votes or 43 less than the first count showed.

Gooden Fish and John P. Gledorf defeated candidates for assessor, received 616 and 468 votes respectively the canvass showed.

The official count showed the fol-

U. W. FACES NEW ERA UNDER FRANK, ALUMNI ARE TOLD

Dean Goodnight Praises New President in Talk to University Graduates

The University of Wisconsin is facing a new era, Dean Scott Goodnight said in a talk before Appleton alumni of the university at Hotel Northern Wednesday night, and he predicted a bright future for the school under the administration of President Glenn Frank. Officers of the Appleton alumni chapter were present in the evening held last year. They are Joseph Koffert, Jr., president, Herbert Hahn, vice president, Mrs. M. T. Kae, secretary. About 30 persons attended the dinner and meeting.

Dean Goodnight praised the expansion program in building possible this year under the increased appropriation granted the university by the Wisconsin legislature, and enumerated the possible additions to the campus buildings. Main hall has been enlarged, he said; additions are planned for the library and the chemistry buildings, a new men's dormitory on the lake shore will be a great source of strength to the school; excavations have been made for the Memorial union building; an appropriation for the medical school looks promising; and the recently completed state memorial hospital, although it is a state building, will be used by the university.

KINDS OF EDUCATION

There are three kinds of education, the speaker maintained, the decorative, the remunerative, and the creative. The decorative is to be shunned, he said, and those who want their Latin and mathematics served in a tall glass with whipped cream representing a trip abroad in the summer, had best go elsewhere than the state university. He did not advise the remunerative type of education, but did not condemn it. The creative type of education is the type to be sought by the university, the educator said, and in this creative class is included research. In the history of the world there has been opened no greater service to mankind than what research has given, Dean Goodnight stated, and the University of Wisconsin should be given the opportunity to conduct more of it than it has heretofore been able.

Mr. Goodnight, although he did not underrate the value of athletics, urged the alumni of the university to use their influence in convincing a certain portion of the public that the reputation of a school did not rest entirely with its football team. A school is not going to ruin because it turns out a losing football or basketball team he maintained. There are other things at a university beside its athletics, and these scholastic things are of the greatest importance, the dean believed.

One of the admirable points in Dr. Frank's administration has been his consideration of the opinion of the faculty before taking important moves the speaker said. The faculty of the school thoroughly approves of the new president and his policies, it was said. Dr. Frank has not tried to overthrow all that has been done before at the university, the dean said, rather he has gone slowly, and any changes have been the result of observation of facts.

The next meeting of the Appleton association will be held at the Menasha hotel at Menasha and will be held in conjunction with the Neenah and Menasha alumni associations.

The YELLOW SLUB

by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY
HENRY RAND, middle-aged credit manager of a department store, is reminded by his family that the next day is his son, JIMMY RAND'S 27th birthday. Jimmy plans a theater party for his mother and father and his sister, JANET, and her fiancé, BARRY COLVIN.

The following evening Henry Rand, a stickler for punctuality, fails to arrive home for dinner at his accustomed time. While the family is wondering, police telephone with word that he has been found dead in the Canfield Hotel.

Jimmy goes to the hotel. His father is in a gas-filled room that had been registered for by H. A. Jones of New York.

Police believe it is suicide. Jimmy doesn't agree. A woman's handkerchief is found in the room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER III

Detective Mooney, a squat little officer with a disfiguring scar running from the outside corner of his eye and across the cheekbone to the mouth, fumbled in his coat pocket and withdrew a small handkerchief. He held it out to Jimmy.

It was a white handkerchief, bordered with fine lace, and smelling strongly of perfume. Jimmy looked at it closely. There were no initials, nothing about it to make it different from any other woman's handkerchief.

"It was lying on the dresser," volunteered Mooney, "right in plain view. That's all we found. It's the only clue whatsoever."

"And your theory, Sergeant?" Jimmy turned away from Mooney to address the policeman who had taken charge.

"My lad, I'm not tryin' to hurt your feelings, but the way I had it sized up was just like this. If you'll excuse me for sayin' so, I had figured that your father possibly had got mixed up with some woman and was takin' a short cut to avoid trouble. I hate to say it to your face, but you'll welcome the truth and this sort of thing isn't new to me."

"You think there was a woman in this room?"

"I did at first. I don't know what to think now."

"Did you see any woman come upstairs this afternoon?" Jimmy had wheeled to face the clerk.

"No, sir. I didn't see any come in or go out."

"In this hotel they are careful not to take notice of any women they see," remarked the sergeant, staring grimly at the little bald clerk.

A newcomer entered the room, a thin man with thin iron gray hair carefully parted in the middle and slicked down closely to his head. His large, red-veined nose seemed too heavy for his face.

The bald hotel clerk seemed to welcome his entrance. "Here's Bride, the night clerk," he announced, apparently relieved to escape the attention of the sergeant.

"Bride" snatched the policeman at the night clerk, "were you here last night when a man registered for this room under the name of H. A. Jones?"

Bride shifted his feet uneasily. "Yes, sir."

"What time was it?"

"About eight or eight-thirty, near as I can remember, Captain."

"Never mind the captain. That apple sauce doesn't work with me. What did this H. A. Jones look like?"

"I don't remember much about him. Lemme see—nope."

"Was he a big man or a little man?" pursued the sergeant. "You ought to remember that much."

"Well, at that I guess he was a pretty big man. He had his overcoat buttoned up around his neck, it being pretty cold—and his hat was turned down. Seems to me he did have pretty big ears and—oh, yes—he had red hair, a kind of sandy sort of red."

"Thought you said he had his hat turned down."

"He did. But I could see the hair on his temples. It was cut close, but you could tell it was red. He just asked for a room, and when I gave it to him he went right upstairs. I haven't seen him since."

"Did he sleep in his room?"

"I don't know, Schwartz, the day clerk here, probably would know if he didn't."

"Did he, Schwartz?"

"I guess he did, Sergeant. The maid would have told me if the bed hadn't been slept in."

"You do a lot of drinking, don't you, Bride?" growled the sergeant.

The night clerk flushed. "I take a drink once in a while."

"Well, by the looks of that nose of yours you take a damn sight too many."

"Meyer." The sergeant turned to one of his men. "Did you tell 'em at Central Station to notify the coroner?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, when the devil is he comin'?" To Jimmy he said: "We have to leave the body just as it is till the coroner arrives. They'll take him to the morgue long enough to determine the cause of death and then they'll turn him over to your family for burial."

"Who's talking about the coroner?" A large individual, carrying a little black satchel, breezed into the room, with a brief glance around him he knelt in business-like fashion beside the body of Henry Rand.

"He'll tell over the dead man's heart. What's it all about, Sergeant?"

The sergeant told him, briefly, what he knew.

"Humph," tersely remarked the coroner, "looks like a plain case of asphyxiation. Hello!"

He had run his hands expertly over Henry Rand's head. He was feeling with his right hand at the base of the skull.

"What is it?" Jimmy sprang forward eagerly. "What is it, Coroner?"

The coroner frowned. He was examining the back of Henry Rand's head.

"There's a slight lump here at the base of the skull that oughtn't to be here. It's not the bone structure, either. Hump. Anybody here know this man?"

"He's my father, Coroner."

"Did your father carry this lump at the back of his head? Here, feel with your hand."

Jimmy ran his hand carefully over the spot indicated. He felt what appeared to be a broad welt near the base of the skull and just to one side of the center. It was firm, but yielded slightly to his touch.

"I'm sure," answered Jimmy, "that my father never had this. If he had, I think I would have noticed it years ago."

"Your father has been hit in the head with something," quietly remarked the coroner. "What with, I don't know, but evidently with something very similar to a sandbag. That is, if he was struck hard enough to do any damage. At any rate, there is no abrasion, such as probably would have been caused by a blow on the head with a club or a hard weapon."

"You think, then, that he was murdered?" Jimmy hung on the coroner's next words.

"I don't know anything. I think it possible, but we'll have to have an autopsy to see what caused his death."

A strange young fellow had entered the room. Evidently a reporter, for he had been conversing quietly with the police sergeant, pausing now and then to jot down a word or two on some twice-folded sheets of rough paper. He stepped over to Jimmy.

"Sorry, Mr. Rand, but will you supply me with your father's age and the number of children he had? I think I've got most of the details from the police."

"He was fifty-five," answered Jimmy wearily. "He had a wife and two children, my sister Janet and myself."

"Thanks, Mr. Rand. Sorry to trouble you." He turned to the coroner. "What is it, Coroner, suicide?"

"It's murder," interrupted Jimmy firmly. "He seized the reporter by the arm. You write nothing about suicide until you learn the coroner's verdict."

"Oh! You seem pretty sure. Well, I'll stick around a while, I guess. What's your idea of what took place?"

"My idea," replied Jimmy, "is that my father was lured to this hotel room under some false pretense, probably by some telephone call to his office. Anyway, we can check up tomorrow and find out what time he left the department store."

"I think that the man who registered as H. A. Jones of New York was in this room waiting for my father to come. When father did arrive, he was barely seated before he was struck on the head and knocked unconscious. You noticed that his overcoat is still on him. That is sufficient indication that he was not in the room very long, or, at least, that he was on his way out when he was struck."

"Then whoever hit him turned on the gas, shut the window if it wasn't already closed, and walked out, locking the door behind him."

"And how about the handkerchief?" asked the reporter.

"I can't account for it, I'll admit."

"Don't you think it is at least an indication that a woman was in this room, at least for a while?"

"Not necessarily," put in the coroner, who had been listening to Jimmy with considerable interest. "Possibly. A man could have planted it here, you know. Besides, it was found in plain view right on that dresser, and you have to pass the dresser or get to the door. It seems to me to get to the door. It seems to me it would be a pretty hard thing to miss, even by someone who was in a hurry. However, we're all shooting in the dark. I'll have to take the body to the morgue."

The reporter spoke to the police sergeant. "Mind if I take a poke around the room, Sarge?"

"Oh, go ahead, Howard. You're a blamed nuisance, but go ahead."

"Thanks," Howard began an inspection of the dresser and then the bed.

"You know, Sarge, they say that it's almost impossible for a murderer to avoid leaving some kind of clue."

He seized the bedding and threw it back, jarring the bedstead violently as he did so. As the bed moved, Jimmy saw something fall from the horizontal railing that supported the foot end of the springs and flutter to the floor.

He was on it in a flash. On the floor it looked like a plain yellow square of cardboard, torn at one end.

"What have you got, Rand?" It was the police sergeant.

Jimmy turned it over. He held the yellow stub of a theater ticket.

"Paragon Theater," he read triumphantly. "Nov. 25. That's the night before last."

Mothers of Sickly Children Read This

My boy was run down—just about skin and bones, and no appetite, writes Mrs. Baker of Boston.

NOW STURDY AND STRONG

"I am writing you in the hopes that other Mothers will read this voluntary testimonial regarding McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. My boy, Brian, was run down completely, just about skin and bones; also irritable and with no appetite."

"I noted a wonderful improvement in him while taking your tablets and purchased three more boxes. His appetite picked up and he is now sturdy and strong. A cheerful youngster and a happy mother want to thank you. You may print this at any time or anywhere you wish."

"MRS. ALBERT E. BAKER, 23 Ridgewood St., Boston, Mass."

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that. But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing, and wise parents are buying, McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets in cents, at Schmitt Bros. Co., or any druggists.

Suit for $19,000 for injuries received at a dance at Armory G last spring will be started in Winnebago county court by Loyola Kinzinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kinzinger, 847 E. During one of the dances the lights in the hall were turned off and Miss Kinzinger fell over another dancer who was on the floor and struck her hip against a radiator, breaking a leg, according to the complaint.

AUCTION

--A Message To Farmers--

We are constantly urging farmers to use Post-Crescent advertising for the sale of Livestock, Poultry, other farm products, farms and farm lands.

We spend considerable time, money and advertising space telling the farmer how to successfully "put across" an AUCTION SALE by means of advertising in our "Auction Columns."

We Know That Fully Detailed, Descriptive Advertising Produces The Best of Results

We cannot cite any better support for our statement than by telling you about the splendid results obtained recently by LAABS & SHEPHERD, Real Estate Dealers of Appleton, at their Auction Sale, March 12th, 1926 (Sale cried by Emory Meltz), on the Old Mike Hanf farm near Greenville Station.

One large ad was used about a week previous to the Auction—then a smaller ad about two days before the Sale Date. Both ads contained detailed, descriptive information about the things offered for sale.

MRS. A. W. LAABS SAID: "The number of people who attended this sale was far beyond our expectations. There was an estimated attendance of about 800 people. And many people were restrained from being present, due to snow blockaded roads. All merchandise was disposed of in a remarkably short time, showing that people were there with the express purpose of buying, and had already made their selections from our thoroughly detailed ads. We are firm believers in newspaper advertising, knowing that such advertising reaches practically all the farmers in this vicinity who would be interested in a sale of this kind."

LOOK FOR LESS
NEW BUILDING
THAN IN 1926

Architects and Contractors
Say Fewer Homes Will Be Erected

Although it is still rather early in the season to prophesy Appleton's building program in 1926, there are many indications that the number of homes to be built here this year will not equal the number constructed in 1925 or the several years previous. The reason is that such an extensive home building has been carried on here for the last six years that the acute shortage of houses which existed immediately following the World war, has been remedied, with the result that there are now a number of homes for sale or rent.

Last year 184 homes were constructed in Appleton, according to George Peotter, building inspector. In 1924 there were 167 houses built while in 1923 the number was 219, making a total of 570 in three years.

If this year's home building program reaches that of 1925 it will be because of the growing desire of people to build and own their own homes. It is possible more small bungalows and colonial style homes will be built this year, and more and more old style houses will be left vacant. Thus, in the opinion of contractors and lumber dealers, if the home building program in 1926 keeps pace with that of the last five or six years it will be because people want and are able to build houses of the newer type and not because a population increase has caused a shortage of homes in the city and made extensive building necessary.

Architects and contractors report quite a number of requests for estimates on home construction, but up to the present time only a few of these persons have definitely decided to build. The first week or two in April is usually the time when people definitely make up their minds whether they want to go ahead with building plans, contractors say.

The fifth ward led in the number of homes constructed in 1925 with 62 and the Third ward was second with 34. Thirty-three homes were built in the Sixth ward. The First ward had 22, the Fourth ward 18 and the Second ward only two. The total construction cost was $238,200. Several Appleton contractors held the opinion that the greatest number of homes will be built this year in the Third ward especially near Appleton Junction, and in the Sixth ward. Henry A. Noffke, local carpenter and builder, has already started construction of 20 homes in the Sixth ward.

There are few really desirable building lots left in the First ward, and the second ward.

The cost of a small six room bungalow style home ranges from $2,500 to $5,000. The sand, stone, cement, brick foundation, and lumber work of a small home comes to about $1,500 and the painting, plastering, heating, plumbing, wiring and miscellaneous necessities bring the cost up to $1,000 or $5,000.

A large lumber and building company reported that an unusually large number of farmers have sought estimates on house, barn and garage construction this year. This is attributed to the relatively prosperous year farmers experienced in 1925.

The Appleton Building and Loan association has arranged to loan $200,000 for the remodeling of old homes and the construction of new ones this year. Applications for loans for construction will be heavy next month, according to George R. Beckley, secretary of the association. Applications and inquiries up to the present indicate that there will be more house remodeling than in any year in the history of Appleton and that more higher class homes and fewer small bungalows will be built.

At present there is no prospect of Appleton's building program being augmented by large industrial building projects. Industrial construction in 1925 amounted to $612,600 and miscellaneous construction totaled $168,232.50.

Curling and Waving Dries
Life from Hair

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy youthful lustre, become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known
Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 50c adv.

9 p. m.—Manitowish vs Monticello.

Madison (P)—Eight teams continued Thursday in the battle for the state high school basketball championship, an additional eight being eliminated Wednesday in the first round, which was marked by several upsets. Unprecedented crowds attended the University of Wisconsin gymnasium Wednesday night and several hundred were turned away.

Continuing in the fight for the championship are Appleton, Eau Claire, Superior, Central, Stevens Point, Shawano, River Falls, Manitowish and Monticello.

All 16 participants, winners of district tournaments participated again Thursday, with the first game at 1 o'clock. The schedule including the consolation games is as follows: 1 p. m.—Wausau vs. Waukesha; 2 p. m.—Fond du Lac vs. LaCrosse; 3 p. m.—Appleton vs. Eau Claire; 4 p. m.—Superior vs. Stevens Point; 5 p. m.—Ladysmith vs. Madison; 6 p. m.—Portage vs. Mt. Horeb; 8 p. m.—Shawano vs. River Falls; 9 p. m.—Manitowish vs. Monticello.

The two big aspects of the opening day were the elimination of LaCrosse, 1925 state champion, and Fond du Lac, which has won the title twice in five years.

Stevens Point established itself as one of the tournament favorites when it put out the LaCrosse quarter 17-12. The Point five accomplished its victory largely through the stellar guarding of Captain Foshelich and McDonald, two of the best guards seen in the tournament. Overconfidence was one of the factors in the elimination of Fond du Lac, whose superior floor work kept the team in the lead through three quarters of the battle, with Superior Central, Fond du Lac led 12-6 when the final quarter opened.

It was the signal for Superior to unleash a scorching offensive that found the team in the lead, 18-15, when the final pistol sounded.

Shawano came to the tournament led by its giant six foot, four inch center, Andrews and romped to the easiest victory of the day, over Ladysmith, 31-20. The light Ladysmith team was unable to stop Andrews, who sunk seven baskets before he retired.

Its praises unsung, Manitowish quietly won the thriller of the three evening contests when it snatched a nip and tuck battle from Portage 23-20. Size proved no handicap to the winners for led by Hayward, diminutive star, they eluded the Portage guards to sink 12 field goals. Hayward divided scoring honors with Brennan, each having seven.

Portage was deprived of the services of its scoring ace, R. Rotholz, who kept the team in the running until retired on four personal fouls.

Madison Central was no match for the polished work of the River Falls team who led all the way for an easy 19-8 victory.

Marvin Habber was the scintillating star of the Mt. Horeb-Monticello game, the final of the day, leading Monticello to a 25-18 win. Habber was the pivot of the Monticello offensive and the individual scoring star with ten points to his credit.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Well, the boys surely came through against Wausau, playing some of the best basketball they have shown this season, according to reports from Madison. The big game, however, is today. Much as we hate to do it and we sure hope our dope gets a horrible upset as it did in the Fondy-Superior game, we are forced to pick Eau Claire to whip the Marmen on past records of the season. Eau Claire held Waukesha to a single basket last night. The boys had their two high scorers out with dimes and dimes. Appleton led Wausau 12-4 at the half and finished strong in the last period to effect a third-quarter Wausau rally.

However, in doing so, Eau Claire gave Waukesha 19 chances from the foul line, only 9 of which were made. So the guarding was exceedingly close. If this is true in the Appleton game, the Marmen may come through with a win as easy as they sure are good from the free throw mark. Yesterday they were fouled 12 times, possibly 16 times, and made 8. In a case of 19 fouls they probably would drop 30 or 40 if on and this with four or five fingers would make Eau Claire a tough team to win if Voecks, Steinberg and Poff do their stuff on defense. Eversen, star Eau Claire forward, is out with illness.

The Fondy-Superior game sure was an upset with Superior classed as weak, but not any more. Fondy lead, 14-10, at the third quarter and Superior had a big final period to come, scoring 8 points to the Fruthmen's 2. Both teams shot poorly. Fondy usually goes poor in the first game but has been lucky to draw small town teams in the past and then hit a winning stride after that 131. Well, for once in its history, a Fondy team went to Madison and failed to take the title. Fondy now knows how Appleton felt when it failed to win the first two games last year. Now all that can be done is take the consolation title, which shouldn't be hard.

We didn't do so bad for a journey of weary upsets in which three favorites were eliminated the first day. We picked six out of eight winners including Manitowish to beat Portage and Monticello to beat Mt. Horeb. Fondy was an upset to all dogmeters and others, and Stevens Point surprised LaCrosse by two points.

Today's choices are even more difficult with the River Falls-Shawano game the hardest of all and three others nearly as bad. It sure is some tourney. Anyway we pick Wausau to beat Waukesha, Fondy to beat LaCrosse in a hard game, Eau Claire to beat Appleton, Ladysmith tough one, Stevens Point to beat Superior, to beat one Madison to beat Ladysmith, Portage to beat Mt. Horeb, Shawano to beat River Falls, whoops, Manitowish to beat Monticello. Personally we think the winners of the Eau Claire-Appleton and Shawano-River Falls games will clash Saturday night for the title. In the words of R.undy write your own ticket!

LEAGUE HEADS LIKE CONTEST

BAN JOHNSON

JOHN HEYDLER

Presidents of the two major leagues heartily endorse the Favorite Player Contest sponsored by the Appleton Post-Crescent and NEA Service, Inc., Cleveland. Ban Johnson, president of the American league, says:

"Splendid idea. I heartily endorse it. Anything boosting boys' athletics is worthy of approval. Virtually every boy has a big league idol, someone he tries to pattern after. Let me repeat: The player contest being conducted by the Appleton Post-Crescent and the NEA Service is a great stunt. I'm strong for it." John A. Heydler, president of the National League says:

"Anything that joins the boy's interest and advancement educationally, with the physical benefits he will derive from wholesome outdoor sport is worthy of approval. Consequently I unhesitatingly endorse the plan for the unique baseball contest being conducted by the Appleton Post-Crescent and NEA Service Inc., of Cleveland.

Presidents Of Two Major Leagues Strong For P-C Favorite Player Contest

Boosters of Clean Athletics for Boys Say Competition Is Worthwhile Stunt

Two of baseball's biggest figures, Banerett B. Johnson, president of the American League, and John A. Heydler, president of the National League, have heartily endorsed the National Baseball Player Contest being conducted by the Post-Crescent and NEA Service, Inc., of Cleveland.

Both Johnson and Heydler are strongly in favor of the unique pre-season baseball game in which thousands of boys throughout the entire country are taking part. Each has emphatically placed his executive stamp of approval on the stunt.

For years both have been devoted boosters of athletics for the youth of America. Each has had the interests, as well as the physical benefits the boys derive from outdoor sports at heart.

Last year President Johnson devised the plan of putting on a series of "boys' days" in each city on the American League circuit. His program provided giving the boys' teams at least an hour of time on the field in practice and play. Following their game the boys viewed the regular league contest from seats in the grandstand as guests of the club management. The idea went over splendidly. It was a pronounced success.

President Heydler, in the National League has likewise always sanctioned any movement which would be helpful in boosting athletics for boys. And he has never left a stone unturned in an effort to promote boys' athletic activities whenever the opportunity afforded.

So, with the heads of baseball's two biggest leagues staunchly endorsing the National Baseball Player Contest, it is certain of developing into one of the greatest ever put on. Interest, by the way, is growing with each succeeding day. Every mail brings "favorites" together with the 200-word sports stories. Many of the lads bent on picking the winning idol don't even take time to mail their selections, bringing them personally to the Post-Crescent office. They don't want to take any chances of missing out, or striking out, to catch the spirit of the game.

Every Tom, Dick and Harry and Joe, Jim and Jack, for that matter is after that trip to a big league baseball park on opening day—to see his favorite in action—to present him a silver cup right at home plate before a record-breaking throng, also to win the six baseball prizes, all dandies offered for the three best stories in each by the Post-Crescent.

HAGEN WINS WEST COAST GOLF MEET

Comes from Behind in Final Day's Play to Whip Bobby Jones, Amateur Champ

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—Walter Hagen, national professional golf champion, concentrated to come from second place to win the West Coast Open Golf tournament with a card of 287, but his battle proved not to be with Bobby Cruikshank, the untouchable professional who led the first day's play with a card of 140. Instead Hagen had to play to beat Bobby Jones, national amateur champion, who turned in a card of 144 for third place in the first day's play, but finished Wednesday with a total of 285.

Hagen was playing the fourth hole when the news of Jones' finish came to him. He knew he had to have a 72 to beat the Atlanta golfer so he played at the mark and got a 70 which brought his total for the tournament two strokes under Jones. Meanwhile Cruikshank encountered bad going and was forced to take a 76 in the final round. This cost him the tournament for he turned in a card of 287, next to Jones.

Tommy Armour, Saratoga, took fourth place with 291, while Bill Mohrman, and Al Espinosa, both of Chicago, were tied for fifth place with cards of 292 respectively.

Everett, Wash.—Tim Callahan, St. Paul, won a technical knockout over Muff Bronson, Portland, two rounds.

Organize Badger Tennis Squad For Tough Season

Madison—(P)—Facing a schedule of seven matches in addition to the conference championships in Chicago, the University of Wisconsin tennis squad has been organized preparatory to intensive practice as soon as the courts are in shape.

The racketeers are being coached this year by William F. Winterble, Madison businessman, former Tri-state champion, who volunteered to help the athletic department. Wisconsin for several years has been without an experienced tennis coach.

Winterble has as a nucleus for a team this year, three lettermen of last year. They are headed by Captain Samuel E. Durand, of Milwaukee. The two others are Frank S. Foster, Peoria, Ill., and Elmer Giesel, Black Earth, Wis.

In addition there are several potential stars among the group of 10 additional aspirants to a place on the

GLICKNER BOSS IS BOOSTER FOR RING OPPONENT

Al Fain Says, Blue, Man Who Battles Glickner at Bay, Is Dangerous Foe

Green Bay—Just because Earl Blue dropped a shade decision to Dago Joe Gans in St. Paul the other night, the fans here don't want to think for a moment that he isn't a real fighter," said Al Fain, manager of Sailor Glickner to a local boxing bug who was kidding Fain about what easy sailing the sailor would have in the wind up bout of the Brown County Boxing club's show here on Friday at the Columbus club.

"A good friend of mine," continued Fain, "was a ringsider at the Blue-Gans scrap and he wrote me plenty about Blue's ability as a ring master. This was a real battle, with both boys standing toe to toe. Each of the fighters scored several knockdowns and when the decision was announced, many of the spectators thought Blue got much of the worst of it, figuring that he deserved a draw, if not a shade decision.

"On my jumps into Green Bay, I have heard much talk about what happened to Blue and I have been kept busy trying to explain things. After Friday night's fight is over, I feel confident that the fight followers will have to admit that Blue is some 'pippins' in the ring.

"So far as I'm concerned I will feel a lot easier when the fight is over. Glickner is working harder than ever since I showed him my friend's letter about Blue and the sailor knows what he is up against.

"Of course, I figure that Glickner is coming through with a win but it won't be without the toughest kind of a scrap. I think they are so evenly matched that the 'breaks of the game' may decide the verdict. Glickner is in the pink of condition and he will be in shape to travel at top speed from the glang at the opening song."

According to officials of the boxing club, the sale of seats is continuing at a rapid clip and the ring mousers are confident of a big house at the opening show. However, there are still a number of choice reservations still available, which can be secured at the Columbus club or the usual places about town.

Big League Battles

Chicago—(AP)—Routine training camp drills and early practice games of the big time baseball players have not been in vain, the athletes now showing the form desired for the start of the long grind which leads to opponents for the best.

Four veteran hurlers convinced their bosses Wednesday they are ready for the season, six of the day's ten exhibition games were rather tight affairs; heavy hitting featured the contests in which the major leaguers had little opposition and in all instances where they were pitted against bushers they won without difficulty.

The Washington Senators were helpless against the dazzling Vance during his three innings on the mound for Brooklyn at Tampa. Hoy of the New York Yankees pitched four hitless frames against the Cincinnati Reds at St. Petersburg; and Uble of the Cleveland Indians absolutely baffled the Boston Braves in the three innings he worked at Lakeland, Fla. Youthful Stars of Heavyweight Division Meet in
First Ten-round Clash

New York—(AP)—Young Stribling of Atlanta, Ga., and Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, N. Y., are at the crossroads of heavyweight pugilism and Thursday night will decide which will make the turn as they cannot go straight on side by side. These youthful performers burst into the boxing foreground about three years ago in much the same way and their careers are linked, for the Georgian faced the then light heavyweight champion, Mike McGuire, in a no-decision contest only to have Slattery pop up and beat Stribling in a six round bout at Buffalo.

Since then both have gained their majority and may expect in bouts of more than six rounds to which they are limited in New York state while minors. Thursday night's squabble is set for ten, but there are many who believe that the battle will end long before the limit is reached. Each man has his following.

The fight in Madison Square Garden will begin at 10 o'clock.

Leo J. Toomey, assessor of incomes for Outagamie and Waubesa counties, was a Madison business visitor Wednesday.

The New York Giants swung into action Thursday against Cleveland at Sarasota after a day of fishing and golfing while Hornsby's St. Louis Cardinals will prepare to end training at Terrell Wells and San Antonio, Texas. The Cards start north with a promising recruit, Gerald Myers, an infielder.

BOY SCOUTS NEED TRACT FOR CAMP, EXECUTIVE SAYS

Keicher Points Out Need of Campsite to Council Executives

A tract of wooded land which can be used for a Boy Scout summer camp and for scout executives during the entire year was pointed out as the greatest need for scouts in the valley council by Paul O. Keicher, executive, at the annual meeting of council executives and district committee members Tuesday evening at Hotel Northern. C. M. Pinnell, Chicago, regional executive of the Boy Scouts of America, was present at the meeting and spoke on the organization of scout councils and districts throughout the country.

The council members were urged to purchase a suitable tract of land for scout activities so that the boys will be able to put into practice the woodcraft and handicraft arts which they have learned from books. Mr. Keicher said that he has an ideal place in mind for a scout camp on the east side of Lake Winnebago and recommended that it be bought by the council for scout purposes exclusively. If the valley council does not secure a complete soon, arrangements will be made for the local boys to camp at the scout site on the south west shore of Lake Winnebago maintained by the Fond du Lac Rotary club.

Mr. Pinnell said that a recent survey of Boy Scout activities in Wisconsin showed that the consolidation of certain areas and towns into councils such as the valley council had already raised the efficiency of scout work in the state, as few cities or towns were able to efficiently maintain a scout organization by themselves. Consolidation into councils is constantly going on in various districts of the state and bringing Wisconsin scout work up to a much higher plane than formerly, the speaker declared. Mr. Pinnell said that at one time Wisconsin was the weakest of the four states comprising Region 7 of the Boy Scouts of America, because of the lack of consolidation in this territory.

W. C. Trilling, Menasha, was elected president of the council. Others elected were: W. J. Gantner, treasurer; H. H. Helble, Appleton, commissioner. There is no vice president elected as each district chairman acts as a vice president on the council. Paul O. Keicher, the council executive, is also its secretary. E.

TEACHERS DISCUSS DALTON METHODS

Study under the Dalton laboratory plan of teaching was discussed by the third and fourth grade teachers of the Appleton grammar school at a meeting with Ben J. Bohan, superintendent of schools, at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A certain number of "contracts" to be filled within a definite period of time are assigned to each pupil in the Dalton method of instruction, and children are not permitted to go on to advance work until all of the assignments have been satisfied. The contracts may be filled in whatever order the student desires.

27 SCHOOLS IN STATE CONTEST

Number of Outagamie-co Teachers Failed to Get Reports in on Time

Though 41 rural schools of Outagamie-co sent in entry blanks for the Better Schools contest sponsored by the Wisconsin farmer, only 27 were allowed to enter, because the remainder arrived at Madison too late, according to notice received by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. The closing date for entries was March 1. Outagamie-co, however, led the state in number, the number of entries.

Another competition will be conducted next year and the late schools will get another chance at the prize. A total of 158 Wisconsin schools are entered in the 1928 contest which closes Oct. 1. Playground equipment worth $500 will go to the winners. The purpose of the contest is to stimulate interest in rural school improvement.

The list of names of all state entries will appear in this week's issue of the Farmer. The schools whose applications were sent in only to be returned as late are districts No. 1 Joint, Black Creek; No. 2, Bovina; No. 2, Buchanan; No. 2, Cicero; No. 10, Grand Chute; No. 2 Joint, Maine; No. 6 Joint, Center; No. 3, Grand Chute; No. 5, Greenville; No. 2 Joint, Maple Creek; No. 3 Joint, Seymour; No. 1, Osborn; No. 7 Joint, Seymour; No. 8 Joint, Seymour.

H. Schultz, Menasha, was chairman of the meeting. Representatives were present from Appleton, Menasha, Neenah, Kaukauna and Kimberly.

Good for One $1.00 Weather Prophet

A quaint Swiss-cottage hygrometer, that pays for itself in many ways. It warns you when to take an umbrella, or when not to hang out the wash. When the weather is to be fine the two children will be out; when stormy weather is approaching the witch will come out from 8 to 24 hours ahead of rain or snow. It is surprisingly reliable on local weather conditions. Made on strictly scientific principles. We have secured a special price on a quantity and, as long as they last, will sell them for exactly what it costs us to retail them—only 69c if you bring this coupon. Every village city and farm home should have one. Come and get yours at once or mail your order. Mail orders 8c extra for packing and postage. An excellent gift.
